Dear Kenneth and Becky,

“The Lord rains on the just and the unjust.” Years ago, I learned that to ancient ears in the Middle East, this verse about rain interpreted rain as a great blessing. On the other hand, many modern Westerners, like myself, usually hear it as a curse, as in, “Rain, rain, go away; come again some other day.”

Well, Biblically speaking, we Southerners have been greatly blessed this summer! The rain was incessant from May through June and well into July. I feel like we’re living in a tropical rain forest now! But the “rains” have not been just in the form of precipitation for CWM – we have been blessed in so many ways! Let me share a few with you:

In spite of opposition from the government and Islamic terrorists, all 10 churches planned for start in 2016 have now been established in Nigeria. It took a full year, but the Kingdom is growing! Sir J.K. Udeze is now in the process of visiting several areas where we have planted churches in order to encourage and challenge them.

Contributions from a Mississippi church enabled our partners in Nepal to construct a new church building, when repairs following the earthquake proved to be insufficient for long-term safety. They will have a grand opening next month with visitors from all over Nepal and northern India, and in October, will host their 5th annual women’s retreat, the first two of which we helped to lead. Finances and health issues prevent our personal participation this year, but we will continue to help them as sponsors of the event.

Two local families, preparing to downsize, have donated much of their considerable collections of decorations and dinnerware to the ministry, which will be a great blessing as we host retreats and rent the facility to others.
